

Work in group

Most libraries, and academic staff teaching lectures tutorials and workshops, ban the use of cell phones. Some require that members switch off their phones before entering.

What are the reasons for these policies? Do you think they are good policies? Explain your point of view.